

Transliteration of the Channeling "Timelines" of Archangel Chamuel by Heike Lieselotte Schneider on November 28, 2021

"Sometimes we ourselves should be the miracle. Blessed are you beloved children in the light. We are the energy which you call Chamuel.

Beloved children in the light. Before we go into our topic for today, which will be about the timelines - since you are very interested in it and want to understand it, even if it is a bit beyond comprehension - we would like to go into the timing or the structures that are currently affecting the body and also the soul, or rather, affecting the mind.

Beloved children in the light, at the moment it is so that the vibrational frequency in the universe is increased more and more to get the earth more and more into the vibrational frequency, into the meant vibrational frequency. The planet itself is not yet liberated, because many light workers are currently also struggling for survival, on one level or another, and for this they do not always have the strength to take on the work that they have actually set out to do, namely to liberate the planet, the energy of planet Earth itself. So again the request to you, try to actually send light and love into the earth, into the planet itself, with every step you take. At the moment, the Earth is perhaps just under 89% free. So there is still quite a bit of the way to go before the full force of the interaction with the vibrational frequency between Earth and the Universe can take place until the merging of energies can occur.

This time will still be bumpy for you, and we know many of you wish a switch would be flipped and everything would be clear. This will not happen in this form. The current structures that are acting on you are causing you to have many, many old issues come up, everything is being re-looked at, you are being led into old hurts over and over again through dreams or even through ideas. All the things that have not been worked through at the moment are being worked through again, and on top of that there are the energies that have an effect on you from the outside, that don't really have nice plans for you. And of course we are not talking about the light forces, but we are talking about the not light forces.

Beloved children in the light. The whole body, the whole being, every cell in your body is vibrating at the moment in different vibrational frequencies and this of course makes one or the other problematic. It is important to get out of struggle and anger. Struggle means not being clear. Clarity means simply saying, "Stop, up to here and not a step further." That is why you do not need to fight. This is ultimately what you have been given by God, free will in every area. And to live this free will, with a clarity free of guilt, free of any fears, with love, united in love, ultimately means to make sure that the point is reached where the story time and the story ends.

Beloved children in the light. Many of you continue to have joint problems, but also unexpected muscular problems. It is important to pay attention to this - and to protect our channel, we again point out to see doctor or alternative practitioner in this regard - to provide you with enough vitamins, minerals. This fight costs more strength than you can imagine. What is still going on at the moment is the war between light and shadow.

Beloved children. We would like to speak to you on the subject of timelines. As we have mentioned several times, there are different timelines active. To explain this a little further, what these timelines actually are, what these timelines mean and what influence they have, and what steps you can take to be in the supposedly best timeline. In the end, it is simple. Be in your heart, enjoy your being and try to refrain from the evaluation and judgment on the outside. And we say this consciously with a smile due to the fact that we know in which problems you are at the moment and we also don't want to come across as know-it-all, but we want to point out to you that in the end the decision, the freedom of choice is in yourself. Struggle can only happen when there is struggle inside. If you are completely clear and act outwardly with the Divine Power at your side and within you, any form of darkness will withdraw from you. We will go into a little more detail on this.

Beloved Children in Light. Timelines are, in effect, something that can only exist when the illusion of time is maintained. This is still happening at the moment. Time is something very relative.

To explain what timelines are, imagine a woolen thread made up of many different threads. If you split this wool thread a little, you will find that these individual threads are still connected to each other. One makes the bend to the right, the other makes the bend to the left. The current timelines, or the timeline that is currently active, is a timeline that is a little slower, so it acts slower, than others. This means that the supposedly luminous is traveling slower and the supposedly dark is traveling faster, but this is also just an illusion. Because, let's assume, this splitted wool thread consists of five different strands, then it means, there are five different time lines. One timeline is only dark, the other is only light. Ultimately, these two timelines would cancel each other out, they would be one way in the middle, so to speak, when they merge. Finally, to relieve your fears, we would like to inform you that all timelines, no matter how many detours you take, will always lead to the Light, completely and without exception.

Beloved children in the light. Stop fighting the darkness in your thoughts, the supposed fight means that the darkness will pressure you more and more. Stop listening to the darkness. Stop following the darkness. This happens when you are light, when you are love, when you act from your innermost being. This happens when you focus your power, when you network, when you join together, when you walk in love and with God by your side, inviting us to walk with you at all times.

Beloved children in the light. This supposed battle is nothing more than a war that has already been resolved, that has already been won. This supposed war is nothing more than darkness trying to fight for its survival. Each timeline has a different quality of time, but in the end it all comes together in this one strand that is being reunited.

Imagine, as an individual person, you are at a fork in the road with five different paths. One path is the direct path. This would be the fastest way, but not visible for you. And you decide to take a path that is a very big detour, that is much longer, that involves many more experiences, not necessarily the best experiences or the most beautiful experiences. You decide out of your head.

If you decide from the head, you are vulnerable to the forces that are not light, to the darkness that makes you extend the path a little, make a detour. If you decide from the heart, you will go the direct way. Of course, this is also the shortest. But in the end, everything will bring you to the goal, and the goal is the ascension of the Earth with all its inhabitants, with all its ensouled inhabitants.

Beloved children in the light. We see your pain, we see your despair, we see your fears, we see all this. But we also see your light. We also see that now, because of the increased vibration and because of the long suffering, you are ready to go other ways and other steps. Often, even among the awakened, there are people who are just waiting. Waiting for what will be changed, what will happen on the outside, waiting for the world to push the button and everything will be alright again. Waiting is something you sort of order from the entire energetic universe, and you get waiting delivered. Making decisions, being awake; it's not enough if you're awake and you know about what's happening and you know that ultimately the light and love will prevail and you're constantly upset about some other people. It's not good enough, it's not enough. Every time you get upset, every time you judge and evaluate, every time you despise other people for their ignorance or whatever, you are feeding the darkness.

And we would like to go back to explaining to you how you feed the darkness. We know it's not a conscious choice. And by a conscious decision we mean, with a decision that is made both from the heart but also with the right thought process, but we would like to point out that these supposed decisions are often very unsouled for the simple reason that you are making them from the head and from the pain, the fear, the anger and any form of the dark entities, the dark energy entities. Again the note: The only thing that is not corruptible is the soul and the heart. That which is always corruptible by the darkness is the thought structure. Beloved children in the light. The supposed dark thoughts, what you are given, "it's all useless", "it's not getting anywhere" is something that can really only come from the darkness. Once again the hint: The light can exist without the darkness, but the darkness never without the light.

But if there is enough light in the world, the darkness will disappear by itself, since the darkness is unsouled, the darkness will die sooner or later, because there is no infinity in their existence, because there is no eternity anchored in their being, because there is no soul dwelling in them.

Beloved children in the light. We would like to point out once again, as we said, how you feed the darkness. As we have explained, an ensouled being has within it the creative power, the connection directly to the Divine Source, to the Primordial Universe, to the Love of All Being, to God, whatever you wish to name it. This creative power rests in you, this creative power exists in you. This creative power is the power that makes everything possible. The creative power that makes it possible to give a mother the power to lift a car when her child is underneath. This is the power that resides in every soul. This creative power - uncorrupted - is not workable for the darkness. It is as if a headlight shines in the greatest darkness and the darkness cannot reach the circle of the headlight. It is impossible because it is transformed immediately. Therefore, it is necessary (for the darkness) that the creative power be corrupted. It is corrupted by fear, anger, rage, hatred, envy, resentment, judging and evaluating through energy structures that are devoid of love. Love is the essence of light and the essence of Divine Omnipotence itself. That means every time you fall out of your power, following your thought structures, this is what happens: Just as water, when it is split, becomes hydrogen and oxygen, it is so that the creative power is cored of love, and the essence that is then left of it is the food of darkness.

Beloved children in the light. Whoever has not yet understood that it is a plan of darkness, does not understand the existence of light and shadow. Ask yourselves, you have different regulations in every country about how an electrical outlet should look or how big a window should be or whatever. You can't manage to make everything in the world the same, for example, the electrical outlets. Every country has different sockets, every country has different regulations. Even in the European, in the European network, it's not possible to have one and the same socket. But worldwide it is possible to act out one and the same plan at the same time!

Beloved children. Try to receive with your heart the knowledge and to decide with your heart. And stop that you have to hope that it ends positively.

Truly we tell you, the positive outcome is destined for the world, not for every being, for the simple reason that many, even souled beings, choose to ultimately follow the path of darkness. Nevertheless, you should really ask yourself the question, how can it happen simultaneously all over the world if there is no plan from the dark ones behind it? But, what would the Divine Omnipotence be if it did not know about this plan and already took countermeasures? Ultimately, it is so that God waits for the critical mass and this is almost reached. The next time will be very tight. The next time will limit you even more, but you are close to the point where the whole matter tips, and that is to the truth, to sincerity, to honesty. Do not let yourselves be made small any longer. Don't let them scare you anymore. Unite, unite in Divine Love, and everything will be possible for you. The change is already underway, every day more people are waking up, every day greater and greater forces are being released, every day the vibrational frequency on the planet itself is increasing.

It cannot go fast. The faster it would go, the greater the collateral damage would have been. The point is not to go completely into power for each of you until you have tried to awaken as many people around you with - to go into your own power. A caged animal that is released needs a moment of reorientation, needs some time to get used to different structures, and the same is true for you, of course. To be clear, to be in your power, to be in Divine Love, to be in Divine Omnipotence, to live in that sense, to wish no one ill, is exactly the essence of what is needed at this time to choose the best of all timelines and the shortest of all timelines. The awakening is already there. But it is not a switch that can simply be flipped without the intervention of each individual.

The more you focus on the darkness, the more you will meet dark beings. The more you focus on the light, the more you will meet light forces. And truly, we say to you: There are more good people in the world than evil.

Even if it is still partially covered or hidden, you feel the awakening in every single cell, you feel the energy change. And if you perceive this from the heart, with the heart, you will feel that this point of change is already there. The lie has to be covered over and over again, it has to be hidden over and over again, it has to be shaped over and over again, it has to be changed over and over again in order to somehow keep it alive. The truth is simply existent. It is there gloriously visible. Every person who decides against it, every person who fights or decides to go the easy way - the easy way, the way turned away from God - means nothing else than doing what others want from you. Not standing up for what is good, but just saying you can't take the pressure anymore, means giving up. God never gives up. The Divine Omnipotence will struggle for each and every soul. So many prophets who have been on this planet have been hurt, defamed, stoned, crucified by completely different forces. They have stood firm in spite of everything. They stood firm trusting in the Divine Omnipotence, in the salvation that waits. You have not betrayed love, family, the power of friendship, of attachment, no matter how great the reprisals. You are living in a war and yet you have food and drink. Of course, you should be prepared for anything, because the darkness will try to throw in everything it has, to put on every show, to bully you, but just ask yourself the question: what luminous force would work with fear? And when you answer that question that a luminous force would never do that, then ask yourself why your supposed leaders are doing this. Or are they just not luminous? Each of you may make the decision - you are light, you are love.

Truly, we say to you, if you would perceive the power and the beauty, the essence of your soul in all its facets, you would be aware that you never take a step without the Divine Source itself. You would defy everything, you could resist everything, you would still remain in the heart and in love. And that power and that essence is within you, every second of your being. Choose wisely. Choose for yourself and for those you love, the path of God's powerful love. Be in your heart, because only there you will perceive and feel the contact with the Divine Omnipotence itself. Free yourself from any opinions. Make yourself free from struggles.

Be pure love and be pure being, and you will change the world for yourself immediately and thereby help humanity to go faster into the awakening process that is already taking place at the moment, but is not going fast enough for many of you.

Beloved Child. You are the Light. You are the love of the Divine Omnipotence. This will never change. And you will never fall lower than in God's hand. You are protected, you are sheltered, you will never be abandoned. Use this power and this knowledge in you. Not in your head, but the knowledge in your heart and soul that inspires you to follow the path of light and love and you will succeed faster than you can imagine.

God has commissioned us to walk by Your side, at all times, day and night. When You invite us, we will be there immediately. And never forget, You are infinitely loved. No one will ever give you up, you are too precious, just by your pure being, by the love in your heart, by the power that flows through you.

You are blessed, you are protected, you are loved. You will never be abandoned. We bless you in the light of Divine Omnipotence, now and always, and so be it."
